

The Washington Times

WASHINGTON, D.C., THURSDAY, JANUARY 22, 1998

Clinton says he didn't ask woman, 24, to swear a lie

President Clinton, facing new allegations of adultery and obstruction of justice, yesterday denied accusations that he had asked a woman to swear a lie to cover up an affair with her when she was 23, but that he had not asked her to lie to the grand jury.

The president's denial comes in the wake of a report that he had asked a woman to swear a lie to cover up an affair with her when she was 23, but that he had not asked her to lie to the grand jury.

Clinton could face charges if he asked woman to lie

Clinton could face charges if he asked a woman to lie, according to a report from a former White House aide. The report says that Clinton asked Monica Lewinsky to swear a lie to cover up an affair with her when she was 23, but that he had not asked her to lie to the grand jury.

The report also says that Clinton asked Lewinsky to swear a lie to cover up an affair with her when she was 23, but that he had not asked her to lie to the grand jury.

Netanyahu won't give in to pressure from Clinton

Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu won't give in to pressure from President Bill Clinton to make further concessions on the West Bank. Netanyahu said that he would not give in to pressure from Clinton to make further concessions on the West Bank.

Netanyahu said that he would not give in to pressure from Clinton to make further concessions on the West Bank.

Historic welcome: Pope John Paul II is welcomed in Havana, Cuba, by Cuban officials. The Pope is seen walking through a crowd of people in Havana.

The Washington Times

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 2008

President Obama

Obama breaks barriers for black Americans

Obama breaks barriers for black Americans, becoming the first African American president of the United States. His victory is seen as a historic moment for the country.

Obama's victory is seen as a historic moment for the country.

McCain campaign: Warrior's last hurrah

McCain campaign: Warrior's last hurrah. McCain is seen giving a speech to his supporters in Phoenix, Arizona, after losing the election to Obama.

McCain is seen giving a speech to his supporters in Phoenix, Arizona, after losing the election to Obama.

Weather: Cloudy and rainy. Election coverage: McCain's loss is a historic moment for the country.